NONSENSE BARRED

A Plain Description of What All May See if They Will

Such bright, warm days as have smiled upon Montana during the past few weeks make one almost wish that he had been born a spring poet, with all the license to bore other people that such a birth entails. But a plain, every-day mortal must not give expression to the enthusiasm which wells up unbidden from the depths of his plebeian soul at sight of nature's efforts to throw off the habiliments of death and clothe herself in the robes of life and loveliness. Oh, no! This is the especial privilege of the gifted few, and you and I, gentle reader, must not encroach upon their domain lest we be sat upon with the force and crushing effect of an able-bodied and well directed pile driver. So do not be alarmed; we know our gait, and will not presume upon the patience of a long-suffering public to indulge in any nonsensical rhapsodies about the return of summer.

But summer is here, just the same, and we take this opportunity to announce the fact to the people, lest in the hurry and worry of business it should escape their observation. Besides, it is our good fortune to live in a place where summer announces its presence by other and pleasant means than suffocating heat and dust and drought; consequently we may have greater reason to welcome its return than others whose lives are not cast in such pleasant places, and may notice it quicker.

Our place of residence is Bozeman, where the approach of the most delightful season of the year was heralded some time ago by grassy lawns and bursting buds and blooming flowers. Now the entire residence portion of the city is embowered in green groves, and to sit in the tower of the new hotel and look out over the city one might easily imagine himself in the midst of a veritable garden of paradise. On every hand there is a pleasing contrast of color, and to a lover of the beautiful the scene is entrancing beyond expression. Extending the view up and down and across the valley the loveliest landscape picture that ever delighted the eye of an artist is beheld. In the foreground lies a broad expanse of level or gently rolling country, relieved of any suggestion of monotony by numerous timber-girt streams whose courses can be traced from the points where they enter the valley to where they join and leave it together 30 miles below. Back of all, and forming an appropriate setting for this beautiful scene, are the grand old mountains, rising one above the other until they culminate in majestic peaks whose heads tower far above the line of perpetual snow.

Surely it is no wonder that the citizens of Bozeman are proud of their city and its surroundings, and it is no wonder that those who once settle here nearly always remain. There is no more attractive spot on the face of the earth, and as business opportunities here are excellent and everything is prosperous, there is no reason why any resident should ever become discontented.

Bozeman is a prominent candidate for the capital, and her chances for winning the coveted prize are very flattering. Being, for many reasons, the best residence city in the state, if she gets the capital her population will be wonderfully increased within a very few years, and it will be increased, too, by the better class of our people. The fact that Montanans all over the state are favorably impressed with the outlook for Bozeman is evidenced by the great number who have invested in real estate here during the last three or four months. The greater portion of those who have bought lots intend to build residences and make Bozeman their permanent abode. Some, however, have bought for speculative purposes, knowing that in no event will Bozeman property ever be worth less than it is today, and that in the event of her getting the capital their property will be worth double what they paid for it just as soon as the result of the election is announced.

For speculative purposes no one can go amiss in buying any property offered for sale in Bozeman, but those who wish to purchase lots on which to build homes for themselves will find our West Side addition superior in many respects to any other portion of the city. It is well watered, has excellent soil, and is located in that part of the town which will eventually be built up with the better class of residences.

Our terms are one-third cash, the remainder in 6 and 12 months without interest; or, $20 down and $10 per month until lots are paid for.

TOM CARTER'S NEW JOB

He Is Appointed Secretary of the Republican National Committee.

CAMPBELL MADE CHAIRMAN

General Clarkson Retires and an Illinois Man Takes His Place—Ready for Campaign Work.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The national committee was called to order by Clarkson shortly before noon. All the states and territories except Nevada, Wyoming and Oklahoma were represented. J. Sloat Fassett of New York named Clarkson to succeed himself as chairman, and endorsing him and his work in behalf of the republican party. Clarkson replied, expressing appreciation of the words of praise from Fassett, but saying that he learned this morning that Harrison preferred another man. He therefore cheerfully declined to be considered a candidate.

When Clarkson concluded, Senator Wolcott of Colorado said that as the temporary chairman had intimated he had an interview with the republican nominee, he would request him to state if he knew who was the nominee's choice for chairman. Clarkson said he was not sure of any particular person had been decided upon. During the conversation the names of Massey of Delaware, Cheney of New Hampshire, Campbell of Illinois, and Carter of Montana had been mentioned, but he was not advised as to whether the nominee had made a definite selection. Recess was then taken until the afternoon.

At the afternoon session Scott of West Virginia sent up a resolution which was laid on the table for the present. It provided that hereafter the republican national conventions be composed of delegates from various states apportioned upon republican votes actually cast in the preceding presidential election, 7,000 votes and fractions thereof greater than a half to be the basis for each delegate.

At the request of Chairman Clarkson, James F. Burke of Pittsburgh, president of the College League of Republican clubs, spoke on that organization. He said a large proportion of the young men who graduated from colleges went out into the world as free traders. This was due to the fact that many of our colleges use European text books, the works of free trade political economists, and their influence has been brought to bear upon the students who went into the hottest fire for the republican party and emerged victorious and without detraction.

It has been found necessary to set up a line of resistance, to exert influence, and so the league organization will be perfected. I propose to organize a branch in each college and place the college boys on the stump.

Payne of Wisconsin placed in nomination as chairman of the national committee, Committee man William J. Campbell of Illinois. Representatives of several other states seconded the nomination as eminently fitting and proper, and predicting under his leadership complete success for the republican party in November. Campbell was elected by acclamation. Hansbrough of North Dakota placed in nomination as vice chairman De Young of California. Rosewater of Nebraska seconded the nomination and De Young was elected unanimously. Sewell of New Jersey nominated Carter of Montana for secretary and Fassett of New York nominated G. A. Hobart of New Jersey, but subsequently withdrew the nomination and Carter was elected. Cornelius N. Bliss of New York was elected treasurer and Edwards of Iowa sergeant-at-arms.

Eulogistic resolutions expressing the thanks of the committee and gratitude of the party to retiring Chairman Clarkson were adopted. In the course of his reply Clarkson, referring to the campaign of '88 and the work of Quay and Dudley, said he hoped there would be no repetition in this and who will ever cease to render due honor to those two honorable men.

He had known many men and he has a large friendship in the country, and wanted to say that if he were upon his dying bed he could not name two men more to be loved and honored than Quay and Dudley. He warned the committee against the growing tendency in the republican party under hypocrisy, at times not to defend its party leaders. Quay and Dudley were attacked by the party whose success is derived from the use of the knife in the South and the assassination of character in the North. They were attacked not because they were guilty of anything wrong in the campaign, but because they won victory for the republican party and restored the government to an honest basis.

In conclusion Clarkson said that no man on this continent deserves more to elect a republican ticket or will do more according to his ability than himself.

Resolutions were adopted thanking J. Sloat Fassett for his eminent services and at 6:30 the committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman. This evening the committee met in a body to the white house to call upon the president. In a few words he expressed his appreciation of their courtesy and after he had shaken hands with all, the committee withdrew.

The new chairman, Campbell, was born in Philadelphia in 1850. His parents moved to Illinois when he was a mere child, and he since has resided in Chicago. He has been actively engaged in law practice for many years and served two terms in the state senate and was a delegate to the national conventions of 1880 and 1888.

CARTER HONORED.

There Was Some Opposition to His Election, but He Has a Pull.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The selection of Commissioner Carter of the general land office to be secretary of the republican national committee, met some opposition today on the grounds that Carter lived too far west to be familiar with the intricacies of eastern politics. His services to the president, however, at Minneapolis, overcame this objection. It is given out that he will resign from the land office not later than July 1, and devote his entire time to the campaign work. Headquarters will be in New York City, and Carter will be given a big share of the heavy work for the next four months. Carter arrived here today after an absence that dates from before the Minneapolis convention.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

The Bonner Company Wins in Its Suit Against the Insurance Companies.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

HELENA, June 27.—Judge Knowles has handed down a decision against the insurance companies in the case of adjustment of fire losses for the Bonner Mercantile company. Under the terms of settlement, two arbitrators, one for each side was chosen, and also an umpire. The Bonner company's arbitrator fixed the damages at $80,000 and the insurance arbitrator at $8,000. The umpire decided on the difference at $80,000. The insurance people, of which the Hartford company is at the head, brought the matter into court on the ground that the proceedings were irregular and that the umpire did not sit with the arbitrators. The cases of the other companies were thrown out of court because they sued for less amounts than will be admitted into an action in the United States court.

The supreme court handed down a decision against A. A. Wenham in his suit against W. S. Switzer for one half interest in the Beemer lode in Silver Bow county. Wenham represented that he gave Switzer $1,500 for the interest, but his name did not appear in the deed and Switzer claimed the money was given for another purpose.

THE CAPTAIN WANTED 'EM.

More About the Securing of the Plans of France's Coast Defenses.

PARIS, June 27.—Jefferson Coolidge, American minister, informs the minister of foreign affairs, Ribot, that Captain Borup admits having paid for secret official documents but declares in so doing he only followed the example of all military attaches. Ribot replied that Borup deserved censure for attempting to corrupt an official in order to possess state secrets, an offense rendering him liable to prosecution if he were not in the diplomatic service. Coolidge expressed deep regret at the occurrence.

The American legation has cabled to Washington asking the authorities to recall Captain Borup. Captain Borup apparently lost his head and has given several contradictory versions of the affair to reporters. A detective is watching the residence of the captain and the doors of the American legation.

BORUP RECALLED.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Captain Borup has been recalled from his position at Paris.

Officials do not believe Captain Borup guilty of the charges against him, and the recall is said to be due altogether to the request of the French government and in the interest of harmony. The report that First Lieut. William A. Glassford of the Signal corps has been selected to succeed Borup is incorrect.

A YOUNG BOY DROWNED.

Thirteen-Year-Old Arthur Carson Loses His Life Near a Lake.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

SPOKANE, June 27.—This afternoon between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock Arthur Carson, a lad about 13 years of age, was drowned in the river a short distance below the falls. Young Carson with 8 or 10 other boys were learning to swim, and getting too far into the treacherous current was swept away despite the efforts of two other boys, Walter Kimball and Harry Roberts, to save him. Carson completely lost presence of mind and when the boys tried to help him he struggled so that they were unable to keep hold of him. He floated about 75 feet down stream and when found was clinging with deathlike grip to a rock at the bottom of the river.

BIDWELL IN THE LEAD.

He May Be Nominated by the Prohibitionists for President.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—It appears likely now that General Bidwell of California may secure the nomination of the prohibition convention for president. At present he is in the lead of Demorest and Stewart. The amalgamation of the prohibition and people's parties, which has been heralded as likely, is now said to be not at all probable. Chairman Dickie of the national committee says it may not even be mentioned. With regard to the probable platform, it is said that the silver matter is just a troublesome to the prohibitionists as to the old parties. One thousand delegates are expected.

FIXING UP THE SLATE.

About Who the People's Party May Nominate for President.

OMAHA, June 27.—The local third party men who have been hoping that Judge Gresham would consent to the use of his name as presidential candidate, had their hopes dashed today by his published refusal. Talk is now in favor of a nominee from the mining states, Stewart of Nevada and Adams of Colorado having a call, with Watson of Georgia in second place. Weaver of Iowa is to be out of it at present.

They Died Together.

XENIA, Ohio, June 27.—Saturday Gilbert Palmer, aged 19, and Emma Conkling, aged 18, went away together. Search for them was unavailing until this morning, when their bodies were discovered several miles from town. They had taken poison. In Palmer's pocket was a note asking that they be buried together, but giving no explanation of the suicide.

He Protected His Innocence.

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn., June 27.—A mob today took W. M. Bates, the wife murderer of Roversville, from jail and hanged him in the court house yard. Bates died protesting his innocence.

The fourth race was over five hurdles, one mile, ridden by owners, who are all Englishmen engaged in horse breeding here and experts in cross-country riding. They rode in English riding costume and made a very gay appearance. The race was handsomely won in the last quarter by Walter Lindsay, he having fourth place until the finish, when his superior riding told.

Mrs. Alice L. Taylor of Iowa Supported by Uncle Sam.

CHICAGO, June 27.—Pension officers have discovered Mrs. Alice L. Taylor of Mount Pleasant, Ia., wife of Dr. John S. Taylor, surgeon in the Twenty-third Illinois infantry, during the late war, who has been confined in various insane asylums of Illinois since 1869, as an insane pauper, has been drawing and converting to her own use his pension of $72 per month since July, 1874, receiving in the aggregate $16,564, none of which has been used for his benefit. Mrs. Taylor was brought here and compromised with the government for $100. She is well known in Iowa as a temperate worker, her writings on the subject having wide circulation.

Rome's Golden-Voiced Nun.

ROME, June 27.—Bianca Donadoni, the "golden-voiced" nun, as Rome has surmised her, who left the stage for the cloister, and whose name now is, of course, no longer Bianca, but Sister Anna, will no more delight the worshippers at St. Anna's in the Via Merulana of the Eternal City. The chapel has been closed, it is learned, from Rome in consequence of the crowd that flocked to it, and who persisted in applauding her in the sacred edifice as though she were still singing on the stage. The ecclesiastical authorities at last were obliged to prevent the masses from entering the church and to close its gates. Sister Anna, says a Rome correspondent, will be sent away from the capital, and it is not likely that her voice will be heard there again.

The Coming Silver Congress.

HELENA, June 27.—Extensive preparations are being made for the approaching mining congress for the purpose of making it an important factor in the third party movement in view of the dissatisfaction of the people of the mining states with both democratic and republican nominees and the platforms. Silver men will take advantage of the congress to bring about a grand rally in the interest of free coinage and the third party. Senators Wolcott, Jones and Stewart and Thomas Patterson and other prominent silver men have consented to attend the meeting of the congress.

The Vega All Right.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The steamship Vega, from Lisbon, which was supposed to have collided with the ship Fred B. Taylor at sea, and that both vessels sank with a loss of 600 lives, arrived here this morning, not having collided with the Taylor or any other vessel. The mystery concerning the wreckage supposed to be that of the Taylor is still unsolved.

Whiskey and a Car.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—A firm here for weeks has been engaged in making distillery machinery ostensibly for a Brooklyn man, but it is widely guessed that the machinery is for the sugar trust, which has decided to become a rival of the whiskey trust.

Three Dead Men Less.

GALVESTON, Texas, June 27.—A New special says three negroes were shot to death at Sturges Friday evening. They had confessed to having outraged two white women the night before.

KILLED IN THE COURT ROOM.

A Young Man in New York Avenges His Sister's Betrayal.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Max Clergett, aged 18, was shot and instantly killed in the court of general sessions this morning by Edwin Divins. Clergett was arraigned on a charge of raping Divins' 15-year-old sister Sarah, and pleaded guilty. He was remanded for sentence and as he walked toward the prisoner's pen, Divins arose and holding a derringer at Clergett's breast, fired before he could be restrained. The victim fell dead instantly. The court room was in confusion, the women screaming and fleeing and the men endeavoring to reach the murderer and his victim. Divins was very collected and went out with two policemen. In the corridor he became hysterical and cried aloud for his sister. He was taken before the coroner and committed to once. He refused to make any statement. General sympathy is expressed for Divins, whose brain is thought to have been turned by the ruin of his sister. The court adjourned for the day.

Hardly had the excitement caused by Clergett's murder subsided when another scene interrupted a trial in the same building. The case of John Hied, charged with assaulting an 8-year-old girl, had just closed, when a man in the audience sprang to his feet and yelled, "Who'll get a rope?" He was quickly pounced upon by an officer and taken from the buildings, but not arrested. He explained that his little daughter has a charge of similar character pending against a man and his feelings were aroused by the summing up of the district attorney.

TO CIVILIZE THE INDIAN.

Important Sioux Council Will Be Held Under Catholic auspices.

OMAHA, June 27.—A special to the Bee says that what is expected to prove one of the most important Indian councils ever held has been arranged to meet on the Big Sioux reservation, near Forest City, S. D., during the week commencing July 1. It will embrace all the Indian tribes in the Northwest and will be held under the direct auspices of the Catholic church. Bishop Marty of South Dakota will be in charge of the exercises, and many distinguished Catholic clergymen will be present. The purpose of the council is to consider the educational, moral and industrial progress and necessities of the Indians, and it is intended to make it an important step toward facilitating their civilization.

Complete harmony has been restored between the Catholic church and the government Indian bureau, and on that account the Catholic clergymen are entering into the preparations for this council with more than ordinary enthusiasm. This will be the first general council of the Indians ever held under the direct auspices of the church, and much importance is attached to it by the Washington authorities.

FOR A SILVER MAN.

People's Party Leaders Have Their Eyes on a Presidential Candidate.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 27.—J. H. Detweiler, president of the congressional district alliance and a delegate to the Omaha convention, has written a letter in behalf of Kansas delegates urging Alva Adams of South Pueblo, ex-governor of Colorado, to become a candidate for president on the people's ticket as a representative of the free silver sentiment of the silver states and the South. Since the nomination of Cleveland, the people's party leaders have agreed to make a united fight for the silver states with a view of throwing the election in the house, believing, with the aid of the southern congressmen, a silver democrat can be chosen president. Detweiler says Kansas will go solid for Adams.

IN WILD DISORDER.

Termination of a Political Meeting at Sheffield, England.

LONDON, June 27.—Advices from all parts of the country show that the campaign opening admits of the greatest excitement. Balfour today attempted to address a meeting at Sheffield. He was continually greeted with cheers and groans. His references to Gladstone's accident caused the uproar to increase. The crowd made several attempts to rush upon the platform, and the police had difficulty in repulsing them. Women screamed, fearing they would be crushed to death, and several of them were extricated in a fainting condition. The speeches were finished as briefly as possible and the meeting terminated in the wildest disorder.

DIXON IS THE WINNER

He Knocks Johnson Out in the Fourteenth Round.

'T WAS A DANDY PRIZE FIGHT

England's Featherweight Not in It With the Plucky Colored American Boy—Sullivan Was There.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The battle for the featherweight championship of the world to-night between George Dixon, the colored boy from Boston, and Fred Johnson, the featherweight champion of England, was won by Dixon in the 14th round. The Coney Island club was crowded with sporting men, and betting was exceptionally heavy. Both men weighed in under 117 pounds. After preliminary affairs were over so much money was in sight that the Johnson men who went down prepared to back their man at even money, were compelled to drop down and odds soon fell $100 to $50 on Dixon with few takers. John L. Sullivan was present in the most hilarious condition, and was so interested in the exhibitions preceding the great event that he didn't see Jim Corbett walk past him.

It was nearly 10 o'clock when Dixon and Johnson made their appearance. The start was fast and furious, Dixon landing right and left on Johnson's stomach and head, forcing him to the ropes and punishing him terribly. A call of time saved him.

In the second Dixon again forced fighting repeatedly landing hard. Johnson laid back for lightning but got no chance and when the bell rang he was very weary.

In the third Johnson led twice but fell short, but immediately after landed hard on Dixon's face and stomach. Dixon was more careful after this.

In the fourth Johnson came up strong but soon received a hard swing in the stomach and another one on the jaw. He retaliated heavily on Dixon's ribs and the round closed with hard fighting.

In the fifth Johnson was full of fight and followed Dixon all over the ring. A number of hard blows were exchanged and the men clinched repeatedly.

In the sixth honors were about even, each receiving considerable punishment.

In the seventh, Dixon landed many good blows and would have finished his man had it not been for Johnson's clever dodging.

In the eighth and ninth each showed good work, with honors easy.

In the tenth Dixon landed on his opponent with both hands, fairly staggering the Englishman.

In the eleventh Johnson got in some good stiff punches and had a little the best of the round.

In the twelfth the Englishman demonstrated that he could stand an awful amount of punishment, and Dixon's severe blows had but little effect on him. He countered with his right every time Dixon came, and the same is true of the thirteenth round.

DIED FROM FRIGHT.

Sad Death of a Five-Year-Old Child at Great Falls.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

GREAT FALLS, June 27.—A sad accident occurred to Mattie, the 5-year-old daughter of William Lloyd, a few days ago, resulting fatally today. Mr. Lloyd is absent in Butte and Mrs. Lloyd is confined to her bed by rheumatism. Mattie and the other children were lighting a fire to make smudge to drive away mosquitoes, when her apron caught fire, which frightened her so much that she ran, causing her other clothing to take fire. The mother had not been able to walk for several weeks, but when she saw the child's clothes on fire she sprang from the bed, caught the child and extinguished the flames. The injuries by burning were very slight, but the shock to the nervous system of the child was so great that she could not recover from fright and died last night.

Lord Salisbury's Address.

LONDON, June 27.—Lord Salisbury has issued an address to the electors. The address implores the electors to pause before deciding to reverse their policy. The address dwells strongly upon the evidence of the Ulster conventions, and concludes by praying the electors not to shatter the peace and order now reigning in Ireland, resulting from a long period of steady government.

Patching Matters Up.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 27.—It is understood at Saturday's meeting of the dominion cabinet, the threatened retaliation by the United States government in the matter of canal toll was discussed and a proposal forwarded to the United States government through the minister at Washington offering to concede much of President Harrison's claims.

What England Has Secured.

MADRID, June 27.—England has obtained from Spain a minimum tariff on British goods imported into Spain and her colonies without granting any concessions in return.
